

Hi teen camp parents, counselors and staff!

This is just a reminder about the dress code for our annual teen camp. Because it is a Christian camp, the standard for dress is a higher standard than any of us are used to seeing these days, so we felt it would be beneficial just to give a reminder of the basic code. Our goal is to provide one week in the kids' lives where they do not have to be bombarded with inappropriate billboards, sexy advertising, and scantily clad images, so that they can more easily focus on God. Our expectation is radical modesty, with the goal being love and consideration for the other counselors and campers.

With that in mind, please remember the following are not allowed:

- Short shorts - please keep them just above the knee. (Athletic shorts should have short "leggings" underneath)
- See through shirts
- Backless, strapless, off the shoulder shirts that cause the bra to show
- Spaghetti straps or bralettes
- Low cut, cleavage exposing shirts
- Also if girls are going to wear yoga pants/leggings, we are requiring that they wear a shirt that reaches the mid thigh in front & back
- In addition, we are asking that the boys refrain from wearing muscle tanks

We realize that this may be a different standard than your home, or your home church. However, this is the standard of the camp. Please help us create a sexually pure environment for the campers that is focused on the "spirit" rather than the "law". We will not have measuring tapes out trying to decipher if shorts are too short. However, those with questionable shorts/leggings will be asked to change. If the camper has no longer shorts in their suit case, they may borrow from a friend. Or if all else fails, you will be asked to bring them appropriate clothing.

Thank you for your help and support!
